

Software Engineering made in Zurich

The premier Software Engineering conference takes place in June 2012 in Zurich.

The International Conference on Software Engineering (ICSE) comes to Switzerland this year. Under the guidance of Prof. Martin Glinz from University of Zurich's Department of Informatics, more than 1200 software engineering scientists and practitioners from all over the world meet in Zurich from June 2-9 for exchanging latest results, trends, experiences, and challenges in software engineering research and practice.

ICSE is the premier software engineering conference. The quality and reputation of ICSE publications is on the level of the best journals in the field. Conducting ICSE in Zurich underlines the fact that software engineering research and practice in Zurich are on a level of excellence that is recognized world-wide.
